Description:

The Journal of Management Studies (JMS) is one of the leading management journals in the world. Hosted by the Centre for Family Business Management of the Faculty of Economics and Management of the Free University of Bozen-Bolzano, this paper development workshop will be held by Professor Daniel Muzio – JMS General Editor and Visiting Professor at the Faculty of Economics and Management. Professor Muzio will present the journal and provide hints about how to manage the submission and revision process. The event is also intended to be a hands on workshop, where delegates review papers, referee reports and decision letters before writing their own. The event will include a coffee break to facilitate interactions among participants and it will conclude with a Q&A session. The hands on elements make it that it is indispensable to run such event face to face, but it will be offered also the possibility to attend it online.
