Course description:	This course covers techniques for writing an academic thesis, helping students understand how to present their research using appropriate conventions and style. Through a series of writing tasks, participants will practice drafting and discussing aspects of thesis writing with support from other class members and the instructor in a workshop approach.
Specific educational objectives:	Students will learn specific research and writing skills related to the writing of academic thesis and will feel more prepared to write their own thesis in English. They will learn how to develop a research plan, how to sequence information into sections/chapters, how to approach writing specific sections such as the literature review, and how to identify and use the linguistic features of academic discourse.
List of topics covered:	• the general structure of a thesis: organising a thesis in sections/chapters developing a research plan • identifying a gap in research; filling the gap • defining a problem and formulating research questions choosing acceptable sources critical thinking writing literature reviews • in-text citations talking about and presenting data discussing results, implications and conclusions compiling a list of references Teaching format:	Lessons, class discussions, workshops, autonomous study and writing.
