

CURRICULUM VITAE

LUCIA BUSATTA

Lucia Busatta holds a PhD in Comparative and European Legal Studies, University of Trento (I) and since April 2016 is a post-doc research fellow at the Department of Public, International and EU Law at the University of Padua (I).

Between November 2012 and January 2016, she worked as a post-doc research fellow at the Faculty of Law of the University of Trento. The first two years were dedicated to a research project on linguistic minorities' protection in the Autonomous Province of Trento; during the third year her research focused on Jurisdictions and Pluralisms in BioLaw.

Teaching activities

Since September 2011 she is a Teaching Assistant in the course of European and Public Law (course leader Prof. Stefania Baroncelli), Bachelor in Economics and Social Sciences, Free University of Bozen (I). Since February 2016 she is also a Teaching Assistant in the MA course of Public Law (course leader Prof. Stefania Baroncelli), Master in Economics and Management of the Public Sector Free, University of Bozen (I).

Between September 2011 and June 2014 she has been Teaching Assistant in the course of Constitutional Law (course leaders Prof. Carlo Casonato and Prof. Cinzia Picocchi), Faculty of Law, University of Trento.

Between 2009 and 2012 she was involved in tutoring activity for the course of Introduction to Law (Principles of Public and Private Law) at the Faculty of Economics of the University of Trento.

Academic and research activities

Lucia is currently Post-doc research fellow at Department of Public, International and EU Law of the University of Padua. She is working on a research project on The impact of the European Directive 2011/24/EU on national healthcare systems.

In February 2017 she has been a visiting researcher at the School of Law of the University of Sheffield.

Previously, she has been Post-doc research fellow at the Faculty of Law of the University of Trento. In 2015, she worked on a research project on Jurisdictions and Pluralisms in BioLaw. The fellowship was granted among the activities financed by the Italian Ministry of Education, University and Research for a project of national relevance (P.R.I.N.). Between 2012 and 2014 she worked on a research on The effectiveness of the guarantee of minority groups in Trentino: principle of equality and institutional instruments.

Between September 2014 and March 2017 she was appointed as expert in BioLaw in the Bioethics Committee for Clinical Practice of Belluno Local Health Authority.

Since May 2014 she is a member of the editorial board of BioLaw Journal – Rivista di BioDiritto, a peer reviewed, online law journal focusing on the relationships between law and life sciences under a comparative perspective (www.biodiritto.org/rivista).

Since 2012 she is co-responsible for the research project website (www.biodiritto.org), highlighting case law and legislation that are of interest in the area of biolaw.

In 2009 she joined the BioLaw research team at the Faculty of Law of the University of Trento and, between 2009 and 2011, she took part to the research activities of Firb 2007 project, on the Impact of biotechnological innovations of fundamental rights (www.biodiritto.org). Her research interests concern fundamental rights' protection, the right to health, reproductive rights, biolaw, territorial autonomy and asymmetries in decentralised states and linguistic and social rights.

She presented papers and research proceedings in several conferences and seminars, both at national and international level, where she was either selected after a call for papers or invited as an expert.

Lucia published several research articles and essays, in Italian and in English, on different peer-reviewed law journals and in edited books. She is also co-editor, with S. Bonini and I. Marchi, of a book on Law and Exceptions (L'Eccezione nel Diritto), published by Editoriale Scientifica, Naples, 2015.

Education and Training

On April 18th, 2012 she defended her PhD thesis on Il diritto alla salute a geometria variabile [Constitutional guarantees for the right to healthcare], supervisor Prof. Carlo Casonato; dissertation committee: Prof. Paolo Carrozza, Prof. Antonio D'Aloia and Prof. Paolo Veronesi. Her main fields of research are the guarantees of the right to healthcare, between regional, State and European levels and principle of equality, human dignity and fundamental rights protection.

During her PhD programme, between 2010 and 2011, she has been visiting researcher at King's College London, at the School of Law of the University of Glasgow and at the Department of Law, Universitat Pompeu Fabra, Barcelona.

On July 9th 2008 was awarded, by the University of Trento, Faculty of Law, a graduate studies law degree (2 years) defending a thesis on Human dignity in constitutional adjudication: a comparative law approach, supervisor Prof. Carlo Casonato, mark 110/110. The thesis was awarded the second position in the prize for graduation thesis on Bioethics and Biolaw, granted by the Research Ethics Committee of the University of Trento (2010 edition).

In 2008 she attended a formative course on Women, Politics and Institutions, organised by the University of Trento and co-founded by the Ministry of Fair Opportunities.

Between 2007 and 2010 she cooperated to the management of Co.Co.A. Summer School (Comparing Constitutional Adjudication), organised by the Department of Legal Sciences of the University of Trento and funded by the European Commission, Marie Curie Actions, 6th Framework Programme, Scientific Coordinator Prof. Roberto Toniatti.

In 2006, she received her BA equivalent degree (three years), in European and Transnational Legal Sciences, by the University of Trento, Faculty of Law, with a thesis on Right to Life and Abortion in the Irish Constitutional Law. During her BA programme, in academic year 2004/2005, she attended as an exchange student the University of Limerick, College of humanities, Faculty of Law, within the Campus Europae Project, linked to the Socrates-Erasmus one; between August and September 2005, she was selected for a training experience at the Autonomous Province of Trento, Department for the Relationship with the European Union, Structural Funds Office, working on a project on EU Structural Funds interventions for 2007-2013.

July 2017