Research

- Artistic Knowledge – Knowledge in the Making (KüWi)(since 2018)
The project investigates artistic ways of knowing by observing how art students acquire a professional practice. In focus is also the role of assignments and their results.
- Praxis, Performativity, Embodied Knowledge – Form and Relevance of Aesthetic Action (PPE)(since 2018)This is a program of workshops to evaluate the different approaches and discuss extensively key-ideas like: the object, the imaginary, emotion, communities of practice.

My research-interest aims to 'artistic ways of knowing': We can observe a chance in sciences connecting theory and practice in a new way. Art and design seem to be paradigmatic for a knowledge that is strongly depending on acting, connecting intellect and body, reflexion and emotion.
