

Ángeles Muñoz-Fernández, Professor of Management at the University of Granada, Spain, for 15 years, lately she has been teaching in several universities in the USA. She is the author of an important number of papers and book chapters. Her research is focused on organizational innovation, entrepreneurship, and sustainability. She received her PhD in Economics and Business from the University of Granada, Spain.