

Franziska Guggenbichler Beck

- MA in Musicology: Free University of Bozen - Bolzano, Italy 2020
 - BA in Stage directing for music theatre: Hochschule für Musik Hanns Eisler Berlin, Germany 2015
 - Piano diploma, Conservatorio all' Abaco, Verona, Italy 2010
- BA in Science of Communication: University of Salzburg, Austria 2010
- Rhetoricum Maius, University of Salzburg, Austria 2010

Franziska Guggenbichler Beck specialized in training people to sing, speak and perform live or on screen. She gained experience working with cultural organizations, companies or institutions such as EURAC research.

She is passionate about developing formats that make classical music accessible to a wider audience. As an opera director she staged several contemporary operas for example at Deutsche Oper Berlin, Staatstheater Cottbus and the Venice Biennale Musica. In 2019, she produced and directed the opera film AMALIA! Un'opera Western.

She is co-founder of OPERABOOOM, a Berlin-based production agency specializing in artistic communication and site specific performances.